

Bulgarian Air Forces Tactical Aviation Squadron 24

May 16, 2002

Ivan Kristoff and Lt. Col. Anton Hristozov, head of a unit with the tactical aviation corps of the Bulgarian Air Force, staged a demonstration over the Madara rocks.

The demonstration started at a large clearing under the Horseman of Madara monument and continued for 13 minutes. The two men climbed down a 100-metre rope hanging from an MI-17 military helicopter. Hristozov remained on the ground and Kristoff climbed back up the rope and performed aerial acrobatics.

Climbing down and up a rope hanging from a helicopter are two new categories in the Guinness Book of World Records.
